[A correspondent has called our attention to one of BRYANT'S poems in which the same ideas are expressed as in Dr. HILL-BRAND'S Address, viz: that the destruction of forests changes the atmosphere to a drier state. We quote a few verses of the poem.]

An Indian at the burial place of his fathers.

It is the spot I came to seek,—
My fathers' ancient burial place
Free from these vales, ashland and weak,
Withdrawn our wretched race.
It is the spot,—I know it well—
Of which our old traditions tell.

The sheep are on the slopes around,
The cattle in the meadows feed,
And laborers turn the crumbling ground.
Or drop the yellow seed,
And plowing steels, in trappings gay,
Whirl the bright chariot o'er the way.

Methods it were a nobler sight
To see these vales in woods arrayed,
Their summits in the golden light,
Their trunks in grateful shade,
And herds of deer, that bounding go
O'er hills and prostrate trees below.

But I behold a fearful sign,
To which the white men's eyes are blind;
Their race may vanish hence, like mine,
—And leave no trace behind,
Save ruins o'er the region spread,
And the white stones above the dead.

Before these fields were sown and tilled,
Full to the brim our rivers flowed;
The melody of waters filled
The fresh and boundless wood;
And torrents dashed and rivulets played,
And fountains spouted in the shade.

These grateful sounds we heard no more,
The springs are silent in the sun;
The rivers, by the blackened shore,
With lessening current run;
The realm our tribes are crushed to get
May be a barren desert yet.

Excessive Eating.—In a letter to Lord Murray, found in the Life of Sydney Smith, lately published, the latter says: "You are, I hear, attending more to diet than heretofore. If you wish anything like happiness in the fifth act of life, eat and drink about half what you could eat and drink. Did I ever tell you my calculation about eating and drinking? Having ascertained the weight that I could live upon so as to preserve health and strength, and what I did live upon, I found that between ten and seventy years of age I had eaten and drunk forty-four one-horse wagon loads of meat and drink more than would have preserved me in life and health! The value of this mass of nourishment is considered to be worth $25,000. This is a frightful calculation, but irresistibly true; and I think, dear Murray, your wagons would require an additional horse each."

FACTS WORTH NOTING.—The whole number of languages spoken in the world amounts to 2523; namely, 587 in Europe, 336 in Asia, 276 in Africa, and 1264 in America. The inhabitants of the globe profess more than 1000 different religions. The number of men is about equal to the number of women. The average of human life is about 33 years. One-quarter die previous to the age of 7 years, and one-half before reaching 17. Of every 1000 persons 1 reaches 100 years of life, of every 100 only 6 reach the age of 65, and not more than 1 in 500 lives to 80 years of age. There are on the earth 1,000,000,000 inhabitants. Of these 33,333,333 die every year, 91,824 every hour, and 99 every minute—or 1 every second. These losses are about balanced by an equal number of births. The married are longer lived than the single; and above all, those who observe a sober industrious conduct. Tall men live longer than short ones. Women have more chances of life in their favor previous to being 50 years of age than men have, but fewer afterward. The number of marriages is in the proportion of 75 to every 1000 individuals. Those born in spring are generally more robust than others. Births and deaths are more frequent by night than by day.

VARIETY.

EARLY RISING.—I would inscribe on the curtains of your bed and the walls of your chamber—"If you do not rise early, you can make progress in nothing. If you do not set apart your hours of reading, if you suffer yourself, or any one else, to break in upon them, your days will slip through your hands unprofitable and frivolous, and unenjoyed by yourself."—Lord Chatham.

GREAT SPEED.—The train which conveyed the Emperor Napoleon to Windsor, on his visit to England, ran at the rate of 72 miles an hour. The distance was 28 miles. Brunell, the great engineer, managed the locomotive.

COURAGE.—Have sufficient to speak to a poor friend, even in the street, and when a rich one is nigh. The effort is not so great as many people may imagine, and the act is worthy of a king.

Top boots are all the spasm in New York now, the cream of Broadway wear tassels to them, and a sporting whip thrust out from the side pocket completes the tableaux. Next thing we shall hear of will be gilt edged shirt collars.

He that is good, will infallibly become better, and he that is bad, will as certainly become worse; for vice, virtue and time, are three things that never stand still.

The Knickerbocker states that two boy babies who chanced to be born in the same house on the same day in this city, were in the bustle of the moment placed in the same cradle, and when taken out, it proved impossible to tell which was which—a matter of great distress to their respective mothers, and which can never be certainly decided.

The product of the California mines since their discovery in 1848 to Jan. 1, 1856, was $356,345,000—that of the Australian from their discovery in 1851, to the same date, $229,934,000, making a total of $586,279,000, and a considerably larger annual average for Australia than California. What has become of it all?

The largest reading room in the world is now nearly completed in the British Museum. It is circular, one hundred and forty feet in diameter, and one hundred and forty feet in height. The tables will accommodate four hundred readers. The wrought iron book cases will contain 102,000,000 volumes. The cost of the room will be about $300,000.

Peter Glass of Leominster, who delights in the manufacture of curiously wrought and inlaid furniture, has just completed a couple of center tables, inlaid with 45,000 pieces of colored woods, so arranged as to represent bouquets and vases of flowers, birds, insects, &c., and on one table are representations of Washington, Jackson, Napoleon, Frederick the Great, and Robert Bruce.

The wealthiest heiress in England at this time is Miss Jones Loyd, daughter of Lord Overstone, the banker. She has but just come out, and created an immense sensation at the last "drawing room." The New York Times says this lady has an uncle in that city, who is now acting in the capacity of a salesman at Genin's Bazar.

HOUSEKEEPING.—We commend the following to our fair countrywomen: We will give to intellect, to immortality, to religion, and to all virtues, the honor that belongs to them. And still it may be belovely affirmed that economy, taste, skill and neatness in the kitchen, have a great deal to do in making life happy and prosperous.

Nor is it indispensably necessary that a house should be filled with luxuries. The qualifications for all good housekeeping, can be displayed as well on a small scale as on a large one.

A small house can be more easily kept clean than a palace.

Taste is as well displayed in placing the dishes on a pine table, as in arranging the folds of a damask curtain.

Skilful cooking is as readily discovered in a nicely baked potato, or a respectable johnnycake, as in a nut brown sirloin or a brace of canvass backs.

The charm of good housekeeping is in the order, economy and taste displayed in attention to little things, and these little things have a wonderful influence.

A dirty kitchen and bad cooking have driven many a one from home to seek for comfort and happiness somewhere else.

Domestic economy is a science—a theory of life which all sensible women ought to study and practice. None of our excellent girls are fit to be married until they are thoroughly educated in the deep and profound mysteries of the kitchen.

See to it, all ye who are mothers, that your daughters are all accomplished by an experimental knowledge of good housekeeping.

The consumption of coffee in the United States is surprisingly large, when we take into the account the great quantity of other articles mixed with the pure article. The import last year was 191,478,657 pounds, valued at $15,940,450.

The "Scotch pebble" is said to excel all other articles for making spectacle glasses. It is perfectly clear and transparent, and free from even the slightest color to interrupt the rays of light.

The aurora borealis occurs at an elevation, it is calculated, of about seventy miles above the earth's surface, at which elevation the air is rarified to a degree far above that afforded by our best modern air pumps.

Not only was the well known chestnut-tree in the garden of the Tuilleries in leaf this year on the 20th of March, but a number of other trees, principally cherry, peach and apricot, were in flower.

As a proof of the very valuable services rendered by swallows, it is estimated that one of these birds will destroy, at a low calculation, 900 insects per day; and when it is considered that some insects produce as many as nine generations in a summer, the state of things, but for these birds, may be readily conceived.

There are more than eight thousand miles of railway in Great Britain, costing some two hundred and eighty-six millions of pounds. The tunnels are more than fifty miles in extent, and the earth-works measure fifty-five millions of cubic yards. The number of miles of telegraph wires is thirty-six thousand—an increase of fifty-fold in a period of only seven years.

Goods acquired by industry prove commonly more lasting than lands by descent.—Thomas Fuller.

Six sisters were recently married in the same evening, at their house in Somerset county, Pennsylvania.

Count Sartiges lately received through the Post Office a letter from a Washington correspondent, treating of the settled antipathy of foreign Governments towards the United States, as now manifested by the conduct of foreign Representatives in their intercourse with society and our public men, and which letter was superinduced by alleged indecent and insulting language against our Government, and especially against the Secretary of State, at a dinner recently given by Count Sartiges. The envelope inclosing the newspaper in question bore the seal of the State Department. On Saturday Count Sartiges called on Mr. Marcy, indignantly complaining of the insult, and demanding that its suspected author be punished, intimating that in the event of failure to do this, he would demand his passports. Mr. Marcy, of course, disavowed all knowledge or responsibility concerning the letter, and expressed regret that anything had happened to occasion offence. Here was a quandary, but Count Sartiges was apparently satisfied, and the Secretary relieved from his unpleasant position by the author, who was a Government employe, but who did not send the letter to Count Sartiges, promptly resigning his office.

DIMENSIONS OF THE AMERICAN LAKES.—The latest measurements of our fresh water seas are as follows: The greatest length of Lake Superior is 335 miles; its greatest breadth is 160 miles; mean depth 988 feet; elevation 627 feet; area 32,000 square miles. The greatest length of Lake Michigan is 360 miles; its greatest breadth 108 miles; mean depth 990 feet; elevation 687 feet; area 23,000 square miles. The greatest length of Lake Huron is 290 miles; its greatest breadth is 169 miles; mean depth 800 feet; elevation 574 feet; area 20,000 square miles. The greatest length of Lake Erie is 250 miles; its greatest breadth is 80 miles; its mean depth 200 feet; elevation 555 feet; area 6000 square miles. The greatest length of Lake Ontario is 180 miles; its greatest breadth is 65 miles; its mean depth is 500 feet; elevation 262 feet; area 6000 square miles. The total length of all five is 1384 miles, covering an area altogether of upwards of 90,000 square miles.

A BATTLE FIELD FOR SALE.—The battle field of Marengo, with its palatial monuments, its rich museum of precious objects, and its richer historic souvenirs, is now offered at public auction in the streets of Paris!

The domain of Marengo is situated near Alexandria in Piedmont, on the line of the railway between Genoa and Turin, and contains about two hundred and fifty acres of ground, vines, woods and fields, watered by the Servia. The monumental palace destined to perpetuate the memory of the glorious battle of Marengo, gained in 1800 by Napoleon, was built by the Chevalier Delavio in 1845, and is a large and handsome palace. It contains furniture, objects of art, paintings and statues, commemorative of the battle, and a museum composed of objects which belonged to Napoleon and Desaix, and arms found on the field of battle. This museum is collected in the old tavern which stood on the ground before the battle, and around which the palace is built.

For the information of foreigners, ambitious for an Italian residence and for Bonapartist souvenirs, I should add that the upset price of the whole property is 600,000 francs, and that there is a good mill privilege on the premises.—Cor. N. Y. Times.

THE ORIENTALS IN PARIS.—An unpublished Abdel-Kader-ism has just come to light. You already know that the great Emir's talent in the utterance of singular hyperboles, and must have noticed the quiet air of skepticism and railleury that run through all his golden-tinted expressions.

The last anecdote of the great Arab Chief is the following: One day he visited the national library of this city. He was there introduced to a Professor of Arabic who commenced talking to him the Arabic of the French Institute, which very much resembled (in perfection) the French of the American boarding-schools. After listening some minutes, with a great deal of sang froid, the Emir ordered his interpreter to say to the learned Professor that "he did not understand French."

A good anecdote is also told of Ali Pacha, the Sultan's Grand Vizier, now in Paris. A few evenings ago a lady, to whom this gentleman was introduced at a soiree, hazarded the naive question—"Is the Sultan married?" "A great deal married" was the Turk's reply.—Ibid.

There is a room in the Smithsonian Institute building, at Washington, where marbles are scientifically tested. Specimens from all parts of the world may be seen there, cut into squares and cubes. To prove their strength, they are tested in a crushing machine, also by acids, water, drying, etc. The scales to weigh the crystals are so delicate, that ten thousandths of its smallest weights are required to make an ounce. The index tablet, also a curious instrument for telling the weight, is so fine that its movement has to be examined by a magnifying glass.

THE CAPITAL OF EGYPT.—The city of Cairo, the capital of Egypt, and one of the richest cities of the East, contains 400 mosques, 149 schools, 11 lazarettos, 300 public cisterns, 46 squares, 240 streets, from 500 to 600 alleys, as many passages, 1265 houses of refreshment, 1 hospital, 65 baths, and from 25,000 to 30,000 donkeys, which are let out for hire. These animals are the only means of conveyance which it is possible to make use of in going from one part of the city to another, or in paying visits.

Col. Fremont's Mariposas estate contains upwards of seventy square miles, situated about two hundred and fifty miles easterly from San Francisco. Palmer, Cook & Co., the California bankers, own one undivided half of the track, and the Colonel the other, which many persons believe makes him the richest man in the world. He bought this immense gold region in 1846 for $8000, and was laughed at for the recklessness of his investment. It has already yielded some thirty five millions of dollars, and its resources, both mineral and agricultural, are said to be inexhaustible.

It is said that the Czar has profited by the bitter lesson which the last two years have taught him; that he has seen the madness of seeking territorial conquest by force of arms in violation of justice and right; that he has determined to abandon the hereditary policy of his ancestors, and for the future to direct the mighty power which he possesses, for pacific purposes, for the development of the great riches of his Empire, for the promotion of commerce, manufactures and agriculture, for the improvement of the social and moral condition of his people, for the construction of railways connecting the most distant portions of his dominions, and for the advancement of civilization in general.

There are 1760 miles of streets in London.
